

Shelf-Life Food Technologist

- Full training provided with career progression available
- Family owned operated company that really cares about you
- Competitive Salary on offer

Formula Foods is a 100% New Zealand owned food technology company based in Christchurch. Founded in 1987 by David and Christine Rout, Formula Foods supplies Professional Food Technology Services, Flavours, Colours, and Ingredients to the Food industry.

We are pioneers in the manufacturing sector of flavours and ingredients and supply a wide range of products and service to the food manufacturing sector throughout New Zealand and overseas. That is where you come in.

We have an exciting and rare opportunity for a Food Scientist in our Shelf Life division to join our team. On a daily basis, you will be analysing food samples, reviewing results and putting together comprehensive reports for customers in regards to how long the product will last on the shelf.

You will be fairly autonomous and able to analyse products from the top down and come up with comprehensive ideas as to what is happening with the products in order to place them with the consumer, in the best possible light.

Your prior experience as a laboratory assistant, food technologist or similar, plus your ability to really get into the detail will see you succeed in this role. You are technical and get on with the job at hand whilst being personable and diligent. You have proven experience in a food technology or food science role, or have a manufacturing, lab, or lab tech background.

You naturally enjoy sharing useful and meaningful insights where you are able to solve problems, nothing is too hard for you! You are able to identify issues, report them and come up with solutions.

What makes Formula Food great is our people and the passion they have for our products and the future. We value finding and keeping the best people, so in return for your commitment you will get:

- Professional and personal training
- A competitive salary
- Career progression

This is a great opportunity to really expand your career and learn from everyone all across the business and being part of team and company that really cares about you.

Make a fresh start, join us today.
