

Quality Assurance Coordinator

The Company:

Our client, an established and growing food manufacturer, are looking to appoint a Quality Assurance Coordinator in a newly created role based in the beautiful Manawatu.

The Role:

Reporting to the Quality Assurance Manager and working with a close-knit team, this new role will get you involved with a great variety of QA functions. Our client has plenty of work in the pipeline and you will likely focus on quality systems, HACCP, internal auditing, managing customer complaints as well as specific quality and process improvement projects. As the role is still evolving, there will be the opportunity for some of the responsibilities to be tailored to suit our preferred candidate's strengths and passions.

You, the Candidate:

We are looking for an enthusiastic, mature, smart and positive thinking candidate that wants to make a real difference and take on significant responsibilities. You will also be a team player with developed communication and interpersonal skills and a strong eye for detail.

To be suitable for this role, you should have the following qualifications, attributes, and experience:

- Relevant qualification e.g. Degree in Food Science/Food Technology or Microbiology
- A minimum of 3 years' QA experience in the food industry
- Quality Improvement experience
- Solid understanding of GMP, RMP, HACCP and other regulatory standards
- Proven documentation writing and maintaining abilities
- Attention to detail
- Work efficiently with a sense of urgency
- Excellent team player and communicator

Benefits:

Join a well-known and loved Manawatu based food manufacturer. In return for your QA expertise, our client offers the opportunity to have your say in exciting quality improvement projects, future career development and a supportive team environment.

Why come to us?

We are one of the few recruitment consultancies in New Zealand where consultants have learned the trade before joining the recruitment industry and recruiting in their specialist sector. Therefore, not only do we understand the needs of our clients in specific and general technical positions, but we also know how to get the best out of you, the candidate, to ensure that you are put forward for the right roles in the right locations with the best remuneration packages.
