Quality and Compliance Officer – Hamilton based

About the company

Our clients are an innovative and fast-growing business supplying natural and healthy ingredients to food manufacturing clients around the globe.

About the role

As Quality and Compliance Officer, you will work as part of a close-knit team and be responsible for managing regulatory, quality and nutrition documentation and systems. You will also communicate directly with clients responding to technical queries and customer complaints.

Your profile

The successful applicant will be an enthusiastic self-starter who is looking for a role where they can make a difference and who is comfortable with the responsibilities that come with the position. You will also be a team player with excellent communication and interpersonal skills and a strong customer focus.

Applicants should have the following attributes, qualifications and experience:

- Tertiary qualification in Food Science/Technology/Applied Science or similar preferred
- At least 18 months QA, food safety or regulatory experience gained within the food industry
- Knowledge of applicable international regulations and standards such as BRC, ISO, FSSC22000, HACCP, FDA and FSANZ
- Quick learner, strong attention to detail and accuracy
- Highly effective written and verbal communication and problem-solving skills
- Excellent time management and organisational skills
- Fluency in Mandarin would be an advantage but is not essential

Why come to us?

We are one of the few recruitment consultancies in New Zealand where consultants have learned the trade before joining the recruitment industry and recruiting in their specialist sector. Therefore, not only do we understand the needs of our clients in specific and general technical positions, but we also know how to get the best out of you, the candidate, to ensure that you are put forward for the right roles in the right locations with the best remuneration packages.
